
Missing Manual

Posted by Wolfemann - 2008/03/04 23:12

Greetings,

I just saw a 2 month old post here regarding the same thing, and it has never been answered. Hopefully I will have better luck.

I keep seeing mention of a "manual" in the forums, but there is no manual in the .zip file I downloaded (v104, stable, complete). What is the filename and location?

I've installed the component, and configured it, but I have no idea what to do next. How do I create a forum? I don't actually expect an answer to this question here, I just want to RTFM but I can't FTFM!!!

Please help.

Thanks,
Micah

Missing would imply that there WAS a manual. There is none. There is some documentation for a few little things but no manual.

Thanks!

I was confused because you (yes, specifically you) had said in a previous (read as: 4 month old) post:

"This is taken straight from the manual included in the FB download (with a little editing)."

So, understandably, I was looking for a manual. I assume this was from a previous release?

Thanks again,
Micah

So, Micah (or anyone?), What are the best sources of information you've found re how to administer your Fireboard Forum?

I'm doing this in my spare time, which makes it even more frustrating, because I've had this web site for about five months and I still haven't figured out how to make it work for its intended purpose.

Thanks!

Tom

INSTALL manual! There is no FireBoard users manual in existence.
